INTRODUCTION

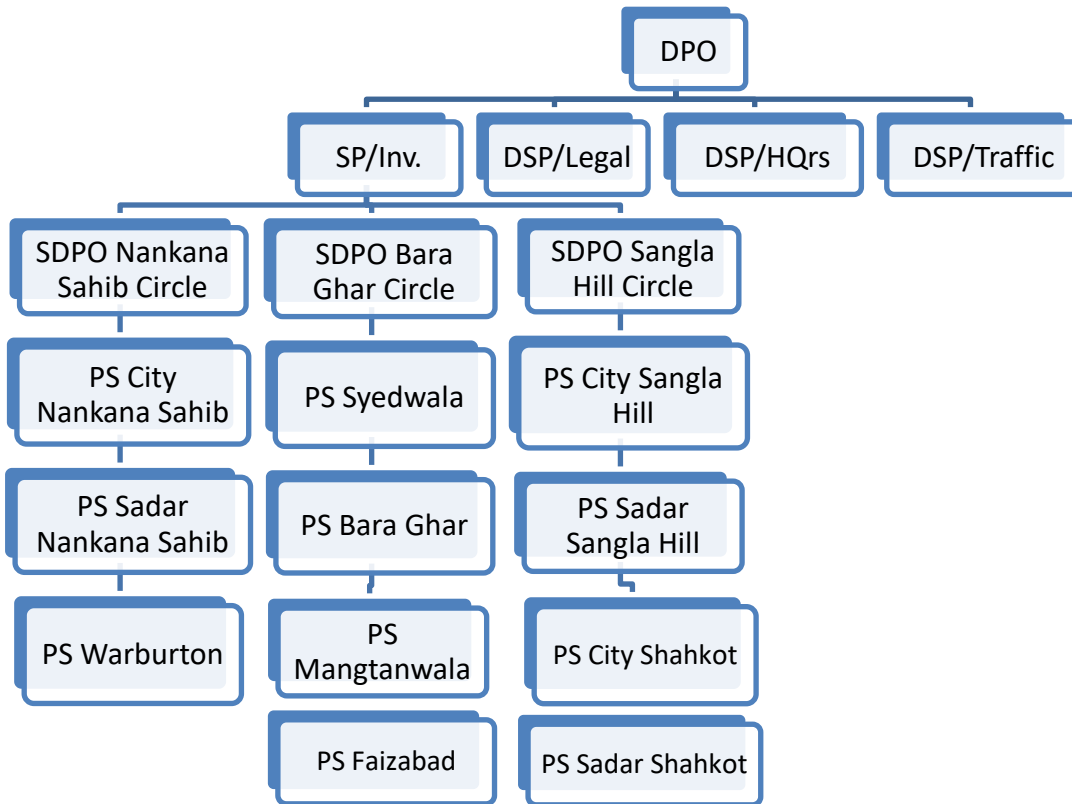

Nankana Sahib is a Holy Place of Sikh religion where the founder of Sikh religion, Guru Nanak dev-je was born. The town of Nankana Sahib was earlier known as Rai-Bhoe-di-Talawandi but after the birth of Guru Nanak; it began to be known as Nanka Sahib or Nankana Sahib. Guru Nanak passed his whole childhood and young age in Nankana Sahib. To the Sikhs, Nankana Sahib's status is equal to what the Jerusalem is to the Christians of the world and Makkha is to be Muslims of the world. The city is highly revered as it is the birthplace of Guru Nanak and the city is named Nankana Sahib after Guru Nanak Sahib.

Guru Nanak did not stay long at Nankana Sahib and soon he set on his missionary tour and went as far as Ceylon. Guru Nanak returned home after twelve long years. Upon his return, Rai Bular Bhatti granted Guru Nanak 750 square "Morraba" of his own land to celebrate his return and guarantee the Guru welfare (the land granted to Guru Nanak by Rai Bular Bhatti is still being held under a Gurdwara trust to be used for the upkeep of the numerous Gurdawaras in Nankana Sahib). Nankana Sahib District is newly created District, which came into existence on 1st of July 2005 because of its political and historic importance.

Previously Nankana Sahib was a Tehsil of District Sheikhpura. According to division made by the Punjab Provincial Government, Nankana Sahib now comprising of 03 Tehsils which are as under: -
